The papers have just been received in this city in the suit on behalf of the bondholders and stockholders of the Seattle, Lake Shore and Eastern Railway Company against that corporation and the Seattle and Eastern Construction Company, in which the court has enjoined the further issuance of bonds and stock under the construction contract. The action was brought in the State Court at Spokane Falls, Wash., on Feb. 19, and on that date the restraining order was granted. An application for a receiver was made at the same time, but a hearing relative to it was postponed to Feb. 25. On that date the case was transferred to the Superior Court at Seattle, where it will shortly be heard. The petition upon which the injunction was granted sets forth that the railway has a nomnal capital of $15,000,000. all subscribed for by D. H. Gilman before Dec. 23, 1886, except 9,272 shares, and an original bond issue of $1,160,000 upon the forty-six miles of road first constructed. An additional issue of bonds of he same series was provided for in the mortgage, to provide for necessary expenditures in the economical and prudent construction of additional road at $25,000 per mile, It is charged that the Construction Company was organized through the efforts of Gilman. holding and controlling $14,000,000 of the stock of the railway, and, through this ownership, the company itself, and that he also controlled and managed the Construction Company. On March 12, 1888, he was Vice-President and setive manager of the Railway Company, and also manager and agent of the Construction Company, and on that day he caused the companies to enter into a construction contract for the fraudulent purpose, it is contract for the fraudulent purpose, it is alleged, of giving the Construction Company control of the securities, franchises, and property of the railway company and of defrauding the holders of the bonds and stock of the railway company already issued out of their security under the mortgage. By this contract the construction company agreed to bold thirty miles of the main line easterly from the completed section across the Cascade Mountains to the Snoqualmic l'ass, that being the located route. For this thirty miles $750,000 in bonds and $350,000 of stock were to be issued it instailments.

Mountains to the Snoqualmic Pass, that being the located route. For this thirty miles $750,.000 in bonds and $330,000 of stock were to be issued in installments.

The complainant swears that after partially completing twenty miles of inexpensive construction. Gilman still managing the two companies, and both having the same person for auditor, and the chief engineer of the one being also the chief engineer of the one being also the chief engineer of the other, the latter certified to the full completion of the twenty miles. On these certificates the Construction Company obtained delivery of half million in bonds and $240,000 in stock, and then abandoned the contrast. Subsequently the Construction Company completed a section of forty-five miles we stward from Spokane Falls, forming no part of the line contemplated by the contract, but procured its acceptance under the contract and the delivery of $1,125,000 bonds and $540,000 stock additional, and then instead of delivering over the road thus paid for, the Construction Company retained and operated it for its own use, the railway company, by collusion with the Construction Company.

The bondholders claim that no connection can be made between these separated sections except at a much greater cost than the average of the sections already built, and that the fraudulent scheme and purpose of the defendant is to construct only the cheaper portions, and yet to obtain the full amount of stock and bonds. The complaint asserts that Gilman has procured himself to be released from his obligation to pay his stock subscription, that the railway company is wholly insolvent, that it borrowed the money to pay the last two coupons, that its floating indebtedness amounted on June 30 to $223,579, consisting of current bills payable $159,000 to pay the August and February coupons and interest on these advances all its income being so absorbed by the Construction Company is stated in the complaint to have distributed in violation of sang so accorded by the Construction Com-pany that its outstanding liabilities are con-stantly increasing.

The Construction Company is stated in the complaint to have distributed in violation of law $1.000,000 in the railway company's securi-ities thus received among its stockholders noder the fraudulent and false pretence that its earnings and profits amounted to 100 per cent, the fact as alleged being that this de-mand was paid out of capital, the Construc-tion Company now being whelly insolvent and its indebtedness being about $500,000 and its assets about $320,000, although, in order to deceive the bondholders and to obtain some of the bonds, it has issued a false and fraud-ulent statement that its assets amounted to $1.300,000.

The control of the railway company by the

$1,300,000.

The control of the railway company by the Construction Company, and the refusal and instillty of the latter to go on with the expensive and connecting sections, is claimed to have disabled the railroad company from completing its line, so that its bonds and stock are rendered of little value and are rapidly becoming valueless, the fraudulent construction contract binding the railroad company hand and foot, and preventing it from raising funds to finish its road, and its carnings being wholly inadequate to buy fixed charges, running expenses, and ordinary repairs.

brought in behalf of all the persons similarly interested, and the Union Trust Company is made one of the defendants so as to enjoin it from delivering any more of the bonds and stock to the Construction Com-pany. The securities of the company that have been marketed are held principally in this city.

MAY HITCH REDLOW'S TO JERSEY.

Then the Immigrants Can Walk Ashere, Fog or No Fog, Next April.

A despatch from Washington announces that arrangements will be made at once by the Treasury Department for the construction on Bedlow's Island, N. J., of the necessary buildings for the immigrant landing depot, to be controlled, after April 18, by a Federal Com-missioner of Immigration. It is not unlikely that the principal objection to the island as a landing place may be removed by the filling in of the shallows between Communipaw and the island and the bridging of the narrow channel. so that immigrants may get to the mainland. fog or no fog. The work of erecting buildings and dredging will be begun immediately. The local Republican politicians are disappointed because Secretary Windom has not announced the name of the Federal Commissioner who is to have charge of the dopartment on Bedlow's Island. It now seems to be generally understood that the Secretary is to appoint such a Commissioner, who is to be responsible directly to him. There are half a dozen prominent candidates, with ex-Congressman Weber of Buffalo in the van, according to good authorities here in New York. It is believed that Secretary Windom will make the appointment in a few days. Collector Erhardt said that the impression that the island could not be got ready in time was a mistake. The necessary buildings could be run up speadlly, and they could be perfected afterward. There were good wharves at the island, and as soon as the new Commissioner was appointed ne would doubtless hustle. There is an intimation that Emigration Commissioner Ridgway's visit to the Atterney. General's office in Albany the other day will not be without its developments. Air. Ridgway declined to say what siens would be taken. The claim of the Commissioners for $125,000 against the Treasury begartment at Washington has already been fised and Mr. Ridgway thought that Attorney-General Tabor and Attorney-General W. H. H. Miller might have either correspondence of interest.

Fourteen aggrieved missionaries of nearly as many seets have petitioned the Emigration Commissioners to reseind the resolution by which the missionaries, many of whom seen boarding houses, were deprived of the privilege of entering Castle Garden while the immigrants were being landed. The Mother of a Soldier who Died After Eating a Pie Entitled to a Pension.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28,-Assistant Secretary Bussey has overruled the adverse action of the Commissioner of Pensions on the claim of Martha A. Hunt, dependent mother of John Hunt, late of Company E. Fifty-eighth Indiana Volunteers. The record shows that while in camp at Bardstown, Ky., in January, 1862, the camp at Bardstown, Ky. in January, 1802, the soldier bought a pie of a woman who was seli-ing ples in camp, and that soon after eating the pie he was taken violently ill, and within a few hours died with every symptom of poisoning. No post mortem was had nor is there any other positive evidence as to the specific cause of death. The claim was originally rejected on the ground that the death of the soldier did not grow out of circumstances relating to his military duty. The Assistant Secretary, however, takes an opposite view of the case, and directs that the claim he allowed, provided the accordance of the mother is shown. THIRTEEN SENATORS AT PRAYERS, Bills to Create a Bepartment of Elections and to Beneal the Ives Post Law.

ALBANY, Feb. 28 .- The Senate was a thirteen club at prayers this morning, but the submay relieve the superstitious fears of any who may be inclined to dwell upon the ill omen. The thirteen were Sloan, McNaughton, Van Gorder, Saxton, Donaldson, O'Connor, Ahearn, Richardson, McCarren, Robertson, Stewart, Birkett, Hawkins and Rossoh. The late comers were Senators Laughlin and Hendricks. It need scarcely be said that the Senate adjourned almost immediately.

The Assembly was confronted with a considerable calendar, lifteen bills on the order of second reading and ten on third. Speaker Husted quickly saw that the count of members was pretty close to the danger line of no quorum, and gave notice that if three-fifths were not present when the order of third reading was reached he would move a call of the House if he could not get some one on the floor to do it for him. This had the desired effect and everybody within reach was hustled in to vote. The calendar was attacked with great vigor.

The last bill on the order of second reading was one of Senator Stadler's Incorporating the German Liederkranz Society of New York. After it had been progressed, Gen. Nebemiah Martin Curtis awoke to the fact. He is one of those rural professors of statecraft who conceive it to be their special mission to preserve the metropolis against itself, morally speaking. He was vehemently opposed to the Stadler of the calendar was enough to stir him up when his eye fell on it. He strode down the alse and across the well with a worried expression and demanded of Clerk Chickering what the Stadler bill was that the House had just progressed. There are no files on Chick, and he did not fall to see the opportunity for a little fun at the expense of the morally and physically gigantic Curtis.

"Oh, something about wine and balls and 3 Martin Curtis awoke to the fact. He is one of pense of the morally and physically gigantic Curtis.

"Oh, something about wine and balls and 3 o'clock in the morning," said he, in the most matter-of-fact manner possible. But the General's expression of deep distress tickled him so that he had to laugh and give away the joke. The chief production of the bill box was the contribution of Mr. Hoag of New York who already had some big bills on his list. Today's bill creates a Department of Elections to assume the duties of the Bureau of Elections in the Police Department, where John J. O'Brien long reigned as chief. It provides for two Commissioners, one of each party, to serve six years at $5.000 a year. Although separating the business of conducting the elections from the Police Department, it provides for a great deal of assistance from the police in the details of the system.

Mr. Cornel of lichmond put in a bill repealing the lves Pool law. After adjournment the Staten Islander grew eloquent on the subject, inspired by the evils that pool selling caused in his own community. "The business means damnation to the youth of the land." he declared, and added: "God Almighty ought to blast it off the face of the books if the Legislature don't."

The Senate seasion was just long enough to permit Senator Saxton to introduce a bill proposing to amend the judiciary article in the Constitution. It provides that the Governer and Senate shall designate thirty-six persons, four from each judicial district in the State, except the First, and eight from that, to constitute a Commission for the purpose of preparing and proposing to the Legislature at its next session an amendment to section 6 of the Constitution. Haif of the Commissioners in each district shall be of one political party and half of the other. They shall meet in Albany on the first Tuesday in June, 1800, organize and appoint elerks and doorkeepers, not to exceed seven. The Commissioners are to get 3500 and mileage, the same as members of the Legislature. An appropriation of $25,000 is made for the purposes of the act.

Brift of the Senate Inquiry Into Electric

The Senate Committee on General Laws resumed yesterday at the Hotel Metropole its investigation of deaths from electric lighting currents. George W. Hebard, President of the United States Electric Lighting Company. which sells apparatus, testified that if properly insulated wires underground were less dangerous than wires overhead: if not properly insulated, they were quite as dangerous. In large cities, however, he thought the wires should be buried, while in the smaller towns overhead wires might be used with comparative safety.

R. R. Bowker, First Vice-President of the Edison Electric Illuminating Company, said a policeman who pushed back a crowd with his club might be considered to represent low tension; when he got to hitting people he would sion; when he got to initing people he would represent high tension, and two policement alubing the same man would represent alternating currents. He declared that the current of the Edison system was seldom higher than 120 volts, and never higher than 240, adding: "We have never killed a man yet, and can't possibly kill anybody. A man can take our current in his hand, as I did a day or two ago, not only without injury, but almost without feeling it, unless his hand be moist."

In answer to questions evidently asked with dently asked with

feeling it, unless his hand be moist."

In answer to questions evidently asked with a view to the creation of a State Board of Electrical Control, to be composed of scientific Republicans from above the Hariem River, the witness said he thought a commission, composed partly of experts and partly of practical persons, might be of service in securing proper insulation of the wires and preventing the use of currents of toe great tension.

Expert Jacob Heess said that there had been no serious accident connected with subways. The various explosions had done little or no harm, and they were caused not by electricity but by accumulations of illuminating gas. Blowers are now used to dispel the gas, Last year there were five deaths in the city from electricity and thirty-two from gas.

Edward H. Johnson director in various of the Edison electric companies, said the low-presure system was harmless to life while the high-pressure was the reverse, but in regard to danger to property there was not much difference between the two systems—the low could set fire to things as easily as the high.

The investigation will be continued to-day.

AT WAR WITH HIS CONGREGATION. Thirty-six Church Members Expelled by

Pastor Gordon's Friends. PITTSBURGH, Feb. 28 .- The discord in the congregation of the Harrison Street Baptist Church, the Rev. C. B. W. Gordon, pastor, caused another church meeting last night which did not adjourn until 2 o'clock this morning. Some of the church members are anxious to have the pastor expelled. The pastor says it is because he is a Democrat, while his opponents say it is on account of his autocratic conduct in church matters.

According to a statement made by Mr. Gordon to-day the church was locked up last Tuesday night and the congregation was forced to re night and the congregation was forced to remain in the church. Mr. Gordon also said that he had understood that an effort was being made to prevent his preaching in the church. At the meeting last night thirty-six members were charged with being implicated in having the doors of the church closed and rebelling against the pastor, and, being found gulity, all of them were expelled.

Gordon's opponents in the church say that the meeting held last night was not in accordance with the rules of the church, and therefore the action taken was not legal. They have several charges against Gordon which they say they will prefer at some future meeting.

NEW BOOKS. Brief Reviews of Important and Interesting

New Publications. The De Witt Publishing House send us a re-print of Mrs. Burton Harrison's charming comedictta, "The Russian Honeymoon." in which years ago Mrs. James B. Potter won her first laurels as an actor on the amateur stage. The story of "Stanley's Emin Pashs Expedition" is told by A. J. Wauters in a handsome duodecimo volume with a map and thirty-three portraits and illustrations (J. B. Lippincott Company). It is a compact and convenient narrative of a most difficult enterprise. "Juny; or, Only One Girl's Story," by T. C. De Leon (Gossip Printing Company, Mobile), is a novel of the lurid and sensational type, but cleverly constructed and containing more than one good character. The reader who begins it will be pretty sure to read it to the close. We can recommend for every-day use Dr. Burt G. Wilder's "Health Notes for Students." of which an enlarged edition has just been issued by the Putnams. Though written for young people, its common-sense suggestions as to diet and regimen may be accepted by persons of all ages. Rand, McNally & Co. publish in English, and in elegant style, a complete edition of the "Journal of Marie Bashkirtseff." It makes a volume of more than 800 pages, and contains all the passages which have been omitted from some other editions. The translators are A. D. Hall and G. D. Heckel, and their work is very well done.

In his "Rothermal, a Story of Lost Identity" American News Co.), Mr. Louis Reeves Harrison has produced a novel of considerable cleverness, with several careful studies of cnaracter, but so obscure, vague, and tortuous in the development of the plot that the reader will find it anything but easy reading. The main idea is a good one, but the story is at the same time tedious. Mr. Brewer Mattocks is the author of volume of verse entitled "Songs of Help and Inspiration" (American News Co.), in which may be found some original ideas and good lines, and a considerable number that are neither original nor specially commendable.

The author is a moralist and pitches his thoughts in a rather lofty key. His rhythmical forms are simple to baldness.

A valuable manual is "The Swedish System of Educational Gymnastics" (Lee & Shepard). The author is Baron Nils Posse, formerly s Swedish military officer, and now a teacher of gymnastics in Boston. The volume contains a great number of illustrations, most of them copied from the works of the late Prof. Ling. the inventor of the system. It is an excellent system, and is very fully and instructively set forth in this volume.

Under the title of "The Boyhood and Youth of Goethe" the Putnams publish in their 'Knickerhocker Series" a translation, by John Oxenford, of the first eleven books of the German post's "Dichtung und Wahrheit" ("Pos try and Truth"), bringing his career down to the Sesenheim episode with Frederica Brion. It was published between forty and fifty years after the events described in it occurred, but exhibits all the enthusiasm and naiveté of a work produced when the writer's impressions were most keen and sympathetic. The translator has done his work well.

"On the Relative Advantage of Tubs with Bottoms and Tubs Without" is the rather Cromwellian title of a book published at 20 Cooper Union for the author, who is a Swedenborgian apparently of the most eccentric type. At all events, he has a quarre with his brother Swedenborgians because they will not agree with him in believing that the substances of which the universe is composed have an existence of their own independent of the Creator, and he berates them soundly, in the most approved theological fashion. The work has no philosophical value. and will interest none but the persons to whom it is specially addressed.

"A Vagabond's Honor," by Ernest De Lancey Pierson (Belford Company), is a readable novel. constructed after the conventional type, in which no character or incident is naturally or realistically conceived. The hero is a scamp. and it does not really appear in the denouement whether or not he has been purged of his rascality. From the same firm we have received Roanoke of Roanoke Hall," by Malcolm Bell, a romantic novel, the scene of which is east in England in the latter part of the seventeenth century, and "A Little Radical," by Jeannette H. Walworth, a pleasant study of American life in the Southwest. Honoria Atwater, the heroine of the latter story, is a winsome creature, very delicately sketched, who ruthlessly crushes all family traditions and social stand ing to marry the man of her choice.

Fellow Letter Carriers' Money, The Post Office employees in Brooklyn yesterday received in checks the payment of their salaries for the month of February, John Hobert, John J. Glass, J. J. Lyon, and Wm. H. Green, letter carriers attached to the East New York station, gave their checks, amounting to about $200, to William H. Kaufmann, a letter carrier in the same station, to have cashed. Kaufmann took the checks to the cashed. Nauthain took the checks to the East New York Bank, where he is known, and got the money. He did not however return to the station or send their money to his fellow carriers, and up to a late hour last night he was missing from his home, 72 Van Sicklen avenue. The supposition was that he had de-faulted, and the police were asked to search for him.

The New Mercastlle Library.

The Mercantile Library will remove to 67 Fifth avenue, one door below Fourteenth street. in April. Its new quarters are to be occupied until the completion of a towering structure. which is to be built on the site of the present Clinton Hall. The land up town, on which the original intention was to build, has been resold at a profit of $100,000 or thereabouts, and thus the Clinton Hall corporation has so much additional capital, while it will pay nothing for its site. The new building is to be completed on May 1, 1891.
